Legal Requirement*

This is an important decision. Before signing, be sure you understand what retirement benefits you'll receive and what benefits you'll no longer be eligible to receive.

Section 3 – Participant's Signature

I reviewed the attached Retirement Benefit Choices Guide and understand my benefit choices.

I understand my benefits under the plan may be paid to me in the form of a Qualified Joint and Survivor Annuity as described in the Retirement Benefit Choices Guide (see page 34), and I have the right to waive this form of payment and elect to receive my benefits in another form of payment. I further understand I may revoke any waiver in effect before I receive any benefits under the plan.

I understand the relationship between my benefit election(s) and income tax withholding and have consulted a tax advisor, if necessary. I certify the information I provided on this form is accurate and complete. This election cancels any prior election I made under this plan.

Federal tax law requires a payment cannot be made sooner than 30 days, nor later than 180 days after I receive the Retirement Benefit Choices Guide. However, my signature below is an affirmative election for the distribution option chosen on this election form and reduces the 30-day waiting period to 7 days as allowed by law. I understand if 180 days has passed since I received the Retirement Benefit Choices Guide, I am required to receive a new booklet and must complete and submit another copy of this election form to restart the time limit described above.

I'm Married Single Legally Separated (attach copy of court order)

NOTE: If Single or Legally Separated box is checked, spousal consent is not necessary.

However, my spouse can change the payment form unless I restrict my spouse’s ability to change by marking the box below. I understand my spouse can change to the QJSA form of benefit payment without my consent.

Legal Requirement*

This is an important decision. Before signing, be sure you understand what retirement benefits you'll receive and what benefits you'll no longer be eligible to receive.

Section 6 – Participant’s Signature

I reviewed the attached Retirement Benefit Choices Guide and understand my benefit choices.

I understand my benefits under the plan may be paid to me in the form of a Qualified Joint and Survivor Annuity as described in the Retirement Benefit Choices Guide (see page 34), and I have the right to waive this form of payment and elect to receive my benefits in another form of payment. I further understand I may revoke any waiver in effect before I receive any benefits under the plan.

I understand the relationship between my benefit election(s) and income tax withholding and have consulted a tax advisor, if necessary. I certify the information I provided on this form is accurate and complete. This election cancels any prior election I made under this plan.

Federal tax law requires a payment cannot be made sooner than 30 days, nor later than 180 days after I receive the Retirement Benefit Choices Guide. However, my signature below is an affirmative election for the distribution option chosen on this election form and reduces the 30-day waiting period to 7 days as allowed by law. I understand if 180 days has passed since I received the Retirement Benefit Choices Guide, I am required to receive a new booklet and must complete and submit another copy of this election form to restart the time limit described above.

If using Direct Deposit:

I authorize Principal Life to initiate credit entries to my checking or savings account at the financial institution named within the Method for Receiving Your Funds section, and if necessary, to initiate debit entries and adjustments to correct any credit entries made in error. I authorize the financial institution to credit and/or debit entries to my checking or savings account. This authorization applies to any payments that hereafter become due and payable to me under the provisions of the plan(s) identified by the Social Security Number identified within this distribution form.

The authorization is to remain in full force until I notify Principal Life in writing at its Corporate Center that the agreement is no longer effective. This election will update any Direct Deposit authorization agreement on file.

I'm Married Single Legally Separated (attach copy of court order)

NOTE: If Single or Legally Separated box is checked, spousal consent is not necessary.

I understand by signing this agreement, I may receive less money than I would have received under the QJSA form of payment and I may receive nothing after my spouse dies, depending on the payment form and beneficiary my spouse chooses.

I agree the benefits paid under this plan will be paid as selected on this Election Form. However, my spouse can change the payment form unless I restrict my spouse’s ability to change by marking the box below. I understand my spouse can change to the QJSA form of benefit payment without my consent.

Federal tax law requires a payment cannot be made sooner than 30 days, nor later than 180 days after my spouse receives the Retirement Benefit Choices Guide. Retirement Benefit Choices Guide

Important information about payment of benefits

You and your spouse (if you're married) should read this section carefully before deciding how you want to receive benefit payments.

Guaranteed interest account

Upon your termination of employment, retirement or disability you will have sixty days to make your benefit choice. After sixty days, money withdrawn from the guaranteed interest account may be subject to a surrender charge. We will honor our current Guaranteed Interest Rates until date of maturity. Contact us at 1-800-547-7754 for information regarding surrender charges and when they apply.

Guaranteed income for you and your spouse

Under the terms of your retirement plan, if you're married, your regular form of benefit usually is a Survivorship Annuity (see page 27) with your spouse as the contingent annuitant. This is called the Qualified Joint and Survivor Annuity (QJSA) form of payment.

This form of benefit guarantees you or your spouse a regular income as long as either of you are living. If you die, your spouse receives a percentage – at least 50 percent – of your regular income for life.

Consent to change

You can waive the QJSA form of payment and choose another benefit option. You can change the form of benefit payment any time before payments begin. After benefit payments begin, your election will become irrevocable and cannot be changed.

Additional requirements if a life annuity option is chosen

In order to protect your spouse's right to benefits, the Internal Revenue Code and regulations require that your spouse must consent to waiving the QJSA if a life annuity benefit payment option is chosen. Your spouse must also consent if you choose to name someone other than your spouse as beneficiary. By consenting to either change your spouse may not receive any plan benefits or may receive a reduced benefit amount.

The Principal Annuity Options Form in this booklet contains a section where your spouse consents to your choice of a different benefit or beneficiary. Your spouse's signature is voluntary.

You can also change the form of benefit payment without your spouse's consent any time before payments begin, unless your spouse restricts your choice on the Annuity Options Election Form.

What happens if there is a divorce or separation?

Divorce or legal separation may end a spouse's right to survivor benefits from the plan. However, a spouse may be able to get a Qualified Domestic Relations Order (QDRO) that would grant him or her rights to receive the survivor benefits even if a waiver giving up these rights were signed.

Benefit chosen affects payment amounts

The type of benefit you choose will affect the payment amounts you and your spouse will receive. If you waive your rights to the QJSA form of payment, your income or benefit payments will be determined by the actual option chosen. The table on page 36 explains how your choice will affect your income and your spouse's income.

Guaranteed income for a single participant

Under the terms of your retirement plan, if you are single, your regular form of benefit is a Single Life Annuity (see page 27). This is called the Qualified Joint and Survivor Annuity (QJSA) form of payment. This form of benefit guarantees you a regular income as long as you live.

You may choose to receive other benefit options (i.e. cash distribution) allowed under the retirement plan. By electing another form of benefit, you have effectively waived your right to the QJSA form of payment.

All participants' rights to defer payments

You also have the right to keep the account held for you in the retirement plan until age 62 or your normal retirement age, whichever comes later. You may elect to defer payments until the later of April 1 of the year after you reach age 70½ (doesn't apply if you're at least a 5 percent owner in the company sponsoring the plan).

Consequences of not deferring payments

At the time you become eligible to receive a distribution from a retirement plan you have several decisions to make. You may need to decide:

- Whether to take retirement funds from the plan now or leave the funds in the plan and take at a later date;
- In what form to receive your retirement funds (if you are given a choice) and you elect a distribution;
- Whether to roll over distributed amounts to another plan or IRA to keep the retirement funds tax-deferred;
- If you elect a rollover, to what investment options will you direct the retirement funds?

These decisions can impact the amount of retirement funds you are ultimately able to accumulate as well as the amount and timing of the tax liability associated with the receipt of these funds.

Some things to consider –

In general, if you do not elect an annuity option which provides lifetime income, or such option is not available through your employer's retirement plan, the earlier you start receiving payments and the larger the payments, the lower the probability that your retirement funds will last throughout your lifetime.

If you take your retirement funds now, you give up the possibility of future tax deferred accumulation in the retirement plan. If you do not roll the funds over to another plan or IRA, you give up the advantage of tax-deferred growth.

If you take your retirement funds now and do not roll funds over into another plan or IRA, you will be subject to current income taxation on the amounts includible in gross income— see Your Rollover Options section beginning on page 37).

If you have not reached age 59½ when you take retirement funds, and you do not roll funds over into another plan or IRA, you may be subject to an additional 10% penalty tax (see page 37). Delaying distribution until a later time may avoid this tax.

If you have not reached age 59½ and have terminated employment during or after the year you reached age 55, the retirement funds you receive from the plan would not be subject to the additional 10% penalty tax. If, however, you roll amounts to an IRA and then take distributions from the IRA, you would again be subject to the 10% penalty tax while under age 59½ unless another exception applies.

You should be aware that some investment options currently available in the plan may not be generally available outside the plan. You should also refer to the Summary Plan Descriptions for this plan, and any other employer plans under which you are covered, for information which might materially affect your decision to defer payments.

The fees and expenses associated with investment options can reduce the amount of retirement funds you can otherwise accumulate. The fees and expenses (including administrative or investment related fees) outside the plan may be different from fees and expenses that apply to the account held for you under your employer's plan. If you elect to roll over funds to another qualified plan or IRA, you should compare the expenses and fees in the underlying investment options of the qualified plan or IRA with those you are currently subject to under your employer's retirement plan. The underlying investment options available to you under your employer's plan are detailed on your benefit statement, and can be accessed online at principal.com. These underlying investment options have expense charges. For these expense ratios, see your prospectus or other investment material at principal.com. Your plan sponsor may be paying for a portion of plan expenses. Contact your plan sponsor for details. You may find your plan contact information in your Summary Plan Description. The Principal may receive payments from investment option providers in connection with the investments offered under the plan. The Principal takes these payments into consideration when determining plan administrative services fees for the retirement plan. *While this communication may be used to promote or market a transaction or an idea that is discussed in the publication, it is intended to provide general information about the subject matter covered and is provided with the understanding that The Principal is not rendering legal, accounting, or tax advice. Your Rollover Options

You are receiving this notice because all or a portion of a payment you are receiving from the plan may be eligible to be rolled over to an IRA or an employer plan. This notice is intended to help you decide whether to do such a rollover.

This notice describes the rollover rules that apply to any payments from the plan that are not from a designated Roth account (a type of account with special rules in some employer plans). If you also receive a payment from a designated Roth account in the plan, please refer to pages 5-8 with respect to that payment.

Rules that apply to most payments from a plan are described in the "General Information About Rollovers" section. Special rules that only apply in certain circumstances are described in the "Special Rules and Options" section.

GENERAL INFORMATION ABOUT ROLLOVERS

How can a rollover affect my taxes?

You will be taxed on a payment from the plan if you do not roll it over. If you are under age 59½ and do not do a rollover, you will also have to pay a 10% additional income tax on early distributions (unless an exception applies). However, if you do a rollover, you will not have to pay tax until you receive payments later and the 10% additional income tax will not apply if those payments are made after you are age 59½ (or if an exception applies).

Where may I roll over the payment?

You may roll over the payment to either an IRA (an individual retirement account or individual retirement annuity) or an employer plan (a tax-qualified plan, section 403(b) plan, or governmental 457(b) plan) that will accept the rollover. The rules of the IRA or employer plan that holds the rollover will determine your investment options, fees, and rights to payment from the IRA or employer plan (for example, no spousal consent rules apply to IRAs and IRAs may not provide loans). Further, the amount rolled over will become subject to the tax rules that apply to the IRA or employer plan.

How do I do a rollover?

There are two ways to do a rollover. You can do either a direct rollover or a 60-day rollover.

If you do a direct rollover, the plan will make the payment directly to your IRA or an employer plan. You should contact the IRA sponsor or the administrator of the employer plan for information on how to do a direct rollover.

If you do not do a direct rollover, you may still rollover by making a deposit within 60 days into an IRA or eligible employer plan that will accept it. You will have 60 days after you receive the payment to make the deposit. If you do not do a direct rollover, the plan is required to withhold 20% of the payment for federal income taxes (up to the amount of cash and property received other than employer stock). This means that, in order to roll over the entire payment in a 60-day rollover, you must use other funds to make up for the 20% withheld. If you do not roll over the entire amount of the payment, the portion not rolled over will be taxed and will be subject to the 10% additional income tax on early distributions if you are under age 59½ (unless an exception applies).

How much may I roll over?

If you wish to do a rollover, you may roll over all or part of the amount eligible for rollover. Any payment from the plan is eligible for rollover, except:

- Certain payments spread over a period of at least 10 years or over your life or life expectancy (or the lives or joint life expectancy of you and your beneficiary)
- Required minimum distributions after age 70½ (or after death)
- Hardship distributions

- ESOP dividends
- Corrective distributions of contributions that exceed tax law limitations
- Loans treated as deemed distributions (for example, loans in default due to missed payments before your employment ends)
- Cost of life insurance paid by the plan
- Payments of certain automatic enrollment contributions requested to be withdrawn within 90 days of the first contribution.
- Amounts treated as distributed because of a prohibited allocation of S corporation stock under an ESOP (also, there will generally be adverse tax consequences if you roll over a distribution of S corporation stock to an IRA).

Call 1-800-547-7754, 7 a.m. - 9 p.m. Monday - Friday (Central Time) to find out what portion of a payment is eligible for rollover.

If I don't do a rollover, will I have to pay the 10% additional income tax on early distributions?

If you are under age 59½, you will have to pay the 10% additional income tax on early distributions for any payment from the plan (including amounts withheld for income tax) that you do not roll over, unless one of the exceptions listed below applies. This tax is in addition to the regular income tax on the payment not rolled over.

The 10% additional income tax does not apply to the following payments from the plan:

- Payments made after you separate from service if you will be at least age 55 in the year of the separation
- Payments that start after you separate from service if paid at least annually in equal or close to equal amounts over your life or life expectancy (or the lives or joint life expectancy of you and your beneficiary)
- Payments from a governmental plan made after you separate from service if you are a qualified public safety employee and you are at least age 50 in the year of the separation.
- Payments made due to disability
- Payments after your death
- Payments of ESOP dividends
- Corrective distributions of contributions that exceed tax law limitations
- Cost of life insurance paid by the plan
- Payments made directly to the government to satisfy a federal tax levy
- Payments made under a qualified domestic relations order (QDRO)
- Payments up to the amount of your deductible medical expenses
- Certain payments made while you are on active duty if you were a member of a reserve component called to active duty after September 11, 2001 for more than 179 days.
- Payments of certain automatic enrollment contributions requested to be withdrawn within 90 days of the first contribution.

If I do a rollover to an IRA, will the 10% additional income tax apply to early distributions from my IRA?

If you receive a payment from an IRA when you are under age 59½, you will have to pay the 10% additional income tax on early distributions from the IRA, unless an exception applies. In general, the exceptions to the 10% additional income tax for early distributions from an IRA are the same as the exceptions listed above for early distributions from a plan. However, there are a few differences for payments from an IRA, including:

- There is no exception for payments after separation from service that are made after age 55
- The exception for qualified domestic relations orders (QDROs) does not apply (although a special rule applies under which, as part of a divorce or separation agreement, a tax-free transfer may be made directly to an IRA of a spouse or former spouse).

- The exception for payments made at least annually in equal or close to equal amounts over a specified period applies without regard to whether you have had a separation from service
- There are additional exceptions for (1) payments for qualified higher education expenses, (2) payments up to $10,000 used in a qualified first-time home purchase, (3) payments after you have received unemployment compensation for 12 consecutive weeks (or would have been eligible to receive unemployment compensation but for self-employed status).

Will I owe state income taxes?

This notice does not describe any State or local income tax rules (including withholding rules).

SPECIAL RULES AND OPTIONS

If your payment includes after-tax contributions

After-tax contributions included in a payment are not taxed. If a payment is only part of your benefit, an allocable portion of your after-tax contributions is generally included in the payment, so you cannot take a payment of only after-tax contributions. However, if you have pre-1987 after-tax contributions maintained in a separate account, a special rule may apply to determine whether the after-tax contributions are included in a payment. In addition, special rules apply when you do a rollover, as described below.

You may roll over to an IRA a payment that includes after-tax contributions through either a direct rollover or a 60-day rollover. You must keep track of the aggregate amount of the after-tax contributions in all of your IRAs (in order to determine your taxable income for later payments from the IRAs). If you do a direct rollover of only a portion of the amounts paid from the plan, and at the same time the rest is paid to you, the portion directly rolled over consists first of the amount that would be taxable if not rolled over. For example, assume you are receiving a distribution of $12,000, of which $2,000 is after-tax contributions. In this case, if you directly roll over $10,000 to an IRA that is not a Roth IRA, no amount is taxable because the $2,000 amount not directly rolled over is treated as being after-tax contributions. If you do a direct rollover of the entire amount paid from the plan to two or more destinations at the same time, you can choose which destination receives the after-tax contributions.

If you do a 60-day rollover to an IRA of only a portion of a payment made to you, the after-tax contributions are treated as rolled over last. For example, assume you are receiving a distribution of $12,000, of which $2,000 is after-tax contributions, and no part of the distribution is directly rolled over. In this case, if you roll over $10,000 to an IRA that is not a Roth IRA in a 60-day rollover, no amount is taxable because the $2,000 amount not rolled over is treated as being after-tax contributions.

You may roll over to an employer plan all of a payment that includes after-tax contributions, but only through a direct rollover (and only if the receiving plan separately accounts for the after-tax contributions and is not a governmental section 457(b) plan). You can do a 60-day rollover to an employer plan of part of a payment that includes after-tax contributions, but only up to the amount of the payment that would be taxable if not rolled over.

If you miss the 60-day rollover deadline

The IRS may grant a waiver to the 60-day rollover requirement during an examination of your income tax return. For your eligibility, the contribution should be made to the plan within 30 days or as soon as practicable after the reason or reasons it was delayed no longer prevent you from making the contribution. Also, the IRS must not have previously denied a waiver of your related contribution. The IRS provides the following reasons for missing the 60-day deadline:

- An error was committed by the financial institution receiving the contribution or making the distribution to which the contribution relates
- The distribution, having been made in the form of a check, was misplaced and never cashed
- The distribution was deposited into and remained in an account that you mistakenly thought was an eligible retirement plan
- Your principal residence was severely damaged
- A member of your family died

- You or a member of your family was seriously ill
- You were incarcerated
- Restrictions were imposed by a foreign country
- A postal error occurred
- The distribution was made on account of a levy under Internal Revenue Code section 6331 and the proceeds of the levy have been returned to you
- The party making the distribution to which the rollover relates delayed providing information that the receiving plan or IRA required to complete the rollover despite your reasonable efforts to obtain the information.

If applicable, you may provide a written self-certification to a plan administrator that your contribution satisfies the conditions noted above. A model self-certification is provided within Revenue Procedure 2016-47 at www.irs.gov. You should keep a copy of the certification in your files if requested during an audit. Self-certification is not a waiver by the IRS of the 60-day rollover requirement; however you may report the contribution as a valid rollover unless you are later informed otherwise by the IRS,

You may also apply for a waiver of the 60-day rollover deadline by filing a private letter ruling request with the IRS. Private letter ruling requests require the payment of a nonrefundable user fee. For more information, see IRS Publication 590-A, Contributions to Individual Retirement Arrangements (IRAs).

If your payment includes employer stock that you do not roll over

If you do not do a rollover, you can apply a special rule to payments of employer stock (or other employer securities) that are either attributable to after-tax contributions or paid in a lump sum after separation from service (or after age 59½, disability, or the participant's death). Under the special rule, the net unrealized appreciation on the stock will not be taxed when distributed from the plan and will be taxed at capital gain rates when you sell the stock. Net unrealized appreciation is generally the increase in the value of the employer stock after it was acquired by the plan. If you do a rollover of a payment that includes employer stock (for example, by selling the stock and rolling over the proceeds within 60 days of the payment), the special rule relating to the distributed employer stock will not apply to any subsequent payments from the IRA or employer plan.

Call 1-800-547-7754, 7 a.m. - 9 p.m. Monday - Friday (Central Time) to find out the amount of any net unrealized appreciation.

If you have an outstanding loan that is being offset

If you have an outstanding loan from the plan, your plan benefits may be offset by the amount of the loan, typically when your employment ends. The loan offset amount is treated as a distribution to you at the time of the offset and will be taxed (including the 10% additional income tax on early distributions, unless an exception applies) unless you do a 60-day rollover in the amount of the loan offset to an IRA or employer plan.

If you were born on or before January 1, 1936

If you were born on or before January 1, 1936 and receive a lump sum distribution that you do not roll over, special rules for calculating the amount of the tax on the payment might apply to you. For more information, see IRS Publication 575, Pension and Annuity Income.

If your payment is from a governmental section 457(b) plan

If the plan is a governmental section 457(b) plan, the same rules described elsewhere in this notice generally apply, allowing you to roll over the payment to an IRA or an employer plan that accepts rollovers. One difference is that, if you do not do a rollover, you will not have to pay the 10% additional income tax on early distributions from the plan even if you are under age 59½ (unless the payment is from a separate account holding rollover contributions that were made to the plan from a tax-qualified plan, a section 403(b) plan, or an IRA). However, if you do a rollover to an IRA or to an employer plan that is not a governmental section 457(b) plan, a later distribution made before age 59½ will be subject to the 10% additional income tax on early distributions (unless an exception applies). Other differences are that you cannot do a rollover if the payment is due to an "unforeseeable emergency" and the special rules under "If your payment includes employer stock that you do not roll over" and "If you were born on or before January 1, 1936" do not apply.

If you are an eligible retired public safety officer and your pension payment is used to pay for health coverage or qualified long-term care insurance

If the plan is a governmental plan, you retired as a public safety officer, and your retirement was by reason of disability, or was after normal retirement age, you can exclude from your taxable income plan payments paid directly as premiums to an accident or health plan (or a qualified long-term care insurance contract) that your employer maintains for you, your spouse, or your dependents, up to a maximum of $3,000 annually. For this purpose, a public safety officer is a law enforcement officer, firefighter, chaplain, or member of a rescue squad or ambulance crew.

If you roll over your payment to a Roth IRA

If you roll over a payment from the plan to a Roth IRA, a special rule applies under which the amount of the payment rolled over (reduced by any after-tax amounts) will be taxed. However, the 10% additional income tax on early distributions will not apply (unless you take the amount rolled over out of the Roth IRA within 5 years, counting from January 1 of the year of the rollover).

If you roll over the payment to a Roth IRA, later payments from the Roth IRA that are qualified distributions will not be taxed (including earnings after the rollover). A qualified distribution from a Roth IRA is a payment made after you are age 59½ (or after your death or disability, or as a qualified first-time homebuyer distribution of up to $10,000) and after you have had a Roth IRA for at least 5 years. In applying this 5-year rule, you count from January 1 of the year for which your first contribution was made to a Roth IRA. Payments from the Roth IRA that are not qualified distributions will be taxed to the extent of earnings after the rollover, including the 10% additional income tax on early distributions (unless an exception applies). You do not have to take required minimum distributions from a Roth IRA during your lifetime. For more information, see IRS Publication 590-A, Contributions to Individual Retirement Arrangements (IRAs), and IRS Publication 590-B, Distributions from Individual Retirement Arrangements (IRAs).

If you do a rollover to a designated Roth account in the Plan

You cannot roll over a distribution to a designated Roth account in another employer's plan. However, you can roll the distribution over into a designated Roth account in the distributing plan. If you roll over a payment from the plan to a designated Roth account in the plan, the amount of the payment rolled over (reduced by any after-tax amounts directly rolled over) will be taxed. However, the 10% additional tax on early distributions will not apply (unless you take the amount rolled over out of the designated Roth account within the 5-year period that begins on January 1 of the year of the rollover).

If you roll over the payment to a designated Roth account in the plan, later payments from the designated Roth account that are qualified distributions will not be taxed (including earnings after the rollover). A qualified distribution from a designated Roth account is a payment made both after you are age 59½ (or after your death or disability) and after you have had a designated Roth account in the plan for at least 5 years. In applying this 5-year rule, you count from January 1 of the year your first contribution was made to the designated Roth account. However, if you made a direct rollover to a designated Roth account in the plan from a designated Roth account in a plan of another employer, the 5-year period begins on January 1 of the year you made the first contribution to the designated Roth account in the distributing plan or, if earlier, to the designated Roth account in the plan of the other employer. Payments from the designated Roth account that are not qualified distributions will be taxed to the extent of earnings after the rollover, including the 10% additional income tax on early distributions (unless an exception applies).

If you are not a plan participant

Payments after death of the participant. If you receive a distribution after the participant's death that you do not roll over, the distribution will generally be taxed in the same manner described elsewhere in this notice. However, the 10% additional income tax on early distributions and the special rules for public safety officers do not apply, and the special rule described under the section "If you were born on or before January 1, 1936" applies only if the participant was born on or before January 1, 1936.

If you are a surviving spouse. If you receive a payment from the plan as the surviving spouse of a deceased participant, you have the same rollover options that the participant would have had, as described elsewhere in this notice. In addition, if you choose to do a rollover to an IRA, you may treat the IRA as your own or as an inherited IRA.

An IRA you treat as your own is treated like any other IRA of yours, so that payments made to you before you are age 59½ will be subject to the 10% additional income tax on early distributions (unless an exception applies) and required minimum distributions from your IRA do not have to start until after you are age 70½.

If you treat the IRA as an inherited IRA, payments from the IRA will not be subject to the 10% additional income tax on early distributions. However, if the participant had started taking required minimum distributions, you will have to receive required minimum distributions from the inherited IRA. If the participant had not started taking required minimum distributions from the plan, you will not have to start receiving required minimum distributions from the inherited IRA until the year the participant would have been age 70½.

If you are a surviving beneficiary other than a spouse. If you receive a payment from the plan because of the participant's death and you are a designated beneficiary other than a surviving spouse, the only rollover option you have is to do a direct rollover to an inherited IRA. Payments from the inherited IRA will not be subject to the 10% additional income tax on early distributions. You will have to receive required minimum distributions from the inherited IRA.

Payments under a qualified domestic relations order. If you are the spouse or former spouse of the participant who receives a payment from the plan under a qualified domestic relations order (QDRO), you generally have the same options the participant would have (for example, you may roll over the payment to your own IRA or an eligible employer plan that will accept it). Payments under the QDRO will not be subject to the 10% additional income tax on early distributions.

If you are a nonresident alien

If you are a nonresident alien and you do not do a direct rollover to a U.S. IRA or U.S. employer plan, instead of withholding 20%, the plan is generally required to withhold 30% of the payment for federal income taxes. If the amount withheld exceeds the amount of tax you owe (as may happen if you do a 60-day rollover) you may request an income tax refund by filing Form 1040NR and attaching your Form 1042-S. See Form W-8BEN for claiming that you are entitled to a reduced rate of withholding under an income tax treaty. For more information see also IRS Publication 519, U.S. Tax Guide for Aliens, and IRS Publication 515, Withholding of Tax on Nonresident Aliens and Foreign Entities.

Other special rules

If a payment is one in a series of payments for less than 10 years, your choice whether to make a direct rollover will apply to all later payments in the series (unless you make a different choice for later payments).

If your payments for the year are less than $200, the plan is not required to allow you to do a direct rollover and is not required to withhold federal income taxes. However, you may do a 60-day rollover.

Unless you elect otherwise, mandatory cash out of more than $1,000 (not including payments from a designated Roth account in the plan) will be directly rolled over to an IRA chosen by the plan administrator. A mandatory cash out is a payment from the plan to a participant made before age 62 (or normal retirement age, if later) and without consent, where the participant's benefit does not exceed $5,000 (or such lower amount stated in the plan) not including any amounts held under the plan as a result of a prior rollover made to the plan.

You may have special rollover rights if you recently served in the U.S. Armed Forces. For more information, see IRS Publication 3, Armed Forces' Tax Guide.
